

2024 STANDARDS PER CLASSIFICATION

Classification I – Jewelry Standards

The Traditional Category is meant to encourage artists to work within their tribal tradition, using traditional materials.

The Contemporary Category is meant to encourage innovative jewelry using both traditional as well as non-traditional materials and techniques.

In 2023, we implemented the “Boundary” Category within each division. This Category is designed to give Jurors and Class Managers more options when looking at pieces that do not necessarily conform to already existing Categories but use the same techniques and materials.

In Jewelry, for example, rather than move certain pieces to Sculpture or Diverse Arts, where an artist may not have been juried in, the piece will stay in Jewelry but be considered “Boundary.” An example of a “Boundary” piece in Jewelry is a silver seed pot with inlay.

Division Descriptions

Division A: Traditional Jewelry. This division is intended for all traditionally-made jewelry using culturally-acceptable materials (including silver, beads, quills, brass, copper, stones, shells, traditional techniques and traditional designs that are derived from ancestral styles and designs).

Division B: Traditional Stones and Shells Jewelry (Pre-Colonial style). No metal except for findings. This division is meant to honor Pre-Colonial jewelry styles, primarily mosaic and heishi styles but can include any jewelry materials that are derived from ancestral styles and designs.

Division C: Contemporary Jewelry. Any and all allowable materials, techniques, and designs with disclosure.

Division D: Contemporary Stones and Shell Jewelry (Pre-Colonial style using contemporary materials). This division is meant to represent the modern extension of Pre-Colonial jewelry styles, primarily mosaic and heishi styles but can include any jewelry materials that are derived from ancestral styles and designs. Any and all allowable materials, techniques, and designs with disclosure.

Important Reminders:

1. Special consideration is to be given to the use of natural hand processed materials.
2. Judging of contemporary divisions recognizes that the artist is working within a modern context. Considered here are artists' sense of design, choice and use of materials and techniques as they relate to contemporary Indigenous life.
3. The Non-wearable Jewelry Division is now considered part of the Boundary Category or under Sculpture Classification (if juried in).
4. The Boundary category should be used only where work does not conform to any listed category.

5. All stone, shell or metal elements, including beads, as well as all feathers and animal materials must be properly identified and comply with Jewelry standards and all State and Federal laws and regulations.
6. Artists may enter each piece of a matched set individually by Category or as a matched set.
